Former OSR Inmate Confesses Brutal Slaying; Reformatory Parolee Captured After Shooting

10 Injured In Area Traffic

6 Hurt As 3 Cars Pile Up

Ten persons were injured, none believed seriously, in four traffic accidents yesterday and early today in the Mansfield area.

Six persons were injured at 10 p. m. yesterday in a three-car crash on U. S. Route 42 four miles northeast of Mansfield, state highway patrolmen said. Two of the six were Senior high school students en route home from the Mansfield-Ashland basketball game at Ashland.

Hurt in the three-car pile-up were Clifton C. Laser, 18, of 54 State street, and Philip Pendleton, 17, of 648 West Third street, both Senior high students; William Black, 25, of 40 Harmon avenue; Chris Lovette, 543 Daisy street; Mose Cowans, 29, of 572 Daisy street, and Luther Ray, 34, of 512 Oakenwald avenue.

Ray and Cowans are in General hospital and Lovette was admitted to Madison hospital. Others were treated and released.

Laser suffered lacerations on the forehead and Pendleton was treated for injuries to his right chest.

Lovette was admitted to Madison hospital for treatment of possible rib fractures. Cowans was treated at General hospital for possible fractures of the left hand and lacerations on the face.

Laser was driving the car in which he and Pendleton were injured. Black was driving the second car and W. D. Corcoran, Lincoln Heights, was the third driver. Corcoran was not injured.

2 HURT NEAR SHILOH

An accident five miles south of Shiloh on State Route 178 at 4:45 this morning, sent Harold Lehman and Chalmers Lehman to the Shelby hospital. Lehman lost control of his car, went off the road and crashed through a guard rail, patrolmen said.

Robert Klahn, 34, Mansfield, suffered a minor laceration of the forehead shortly before noon yesterday when the car in which he was riding collided with a car driven by George Gribling, 61 Ausdale avenue, police said.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Park avenue west and West Park boulevard.

Samuel Klein, 458 Park avenue west, driver of the car in which Klahn was riding, said the light was amber as he went through the intersection and was struck by Gribling.

Gribling told police that the light had turned green before he entered the intersection from West Park boulevard.

Clifford J. Perry, 35, of Mansfield, R. D. 6, suffered a cut on the left side of his head when the car he was driving skidded into a tree on the north side of West Fourth street near the intersection of Western avenue yesterday afternoon.

He told police he lost control when the car skidded as he tried to stop for a traffic light. Police said the car skidded 47 feet before hitting the tree. Perry was treated at General hospital and released. He was charged with unsafe operation and is scheduled to be heard in municipal court Wednesday afternoon.

Urge Death By Hanging For Primate

Hungarian Treason Trial Nears End

BUDAPEST, Hungary — (AP) — The prosecutor of this communist-ruled state today demanded a "hard" sentence—meaning death by hanging—for Josef Cardinal Mindszenty and all six of his associated defendants.

Presiding Judge Vilmos Olthys said earlier a verdict could not be expected before Monday in the treason case of the 56-year-old Primate of 7,000,000 Hungarian Catholics. But the sensational trial which began only three days ago was moving swiftly to a conclusion.

Prosecutor Gyula Elapi said the Hungarian people demanded the removal of Cardinal Mindszenty as one of "the last remnants of reaction."

Hungarian prosecutors never ask for life or death sentences for a "hard" sentence it means the most severe possible—death by hanging.

With Cardinal Mindszenty in the prisoners' dock were the wealthy aristocrat, Duke Paul Esternhazy, three priests, a Catholic journalist and a royalist university expert on church law.

The Cardinal has spoken up several times in court already. He peaded "partly guilty," but denied he had plotted to overthrow the "Democratic system" of Hungary.

He acknowledged royalist sympathies, however, and admitted travelling abroad and corresponding with foreign diplomats and churchmen on subjects which his government accusers say made him guilty of plotting to overthrow the republic.

Athens Murder Solved

Cites Robbery As Motive

ATHENS — (AP) — Police today reported a former inmate of Mansfield reformatory admitted the slaying of Miss Eleanor Gifford, 52-year-old church worker whose bludgeoned body was found in her home near here last Jan. 6.

Sheriff George Bateman and Paul E. Brown, a private investigator, identified the man as Harry Dodds, jr., 21, of New Straitsville. The officers said Dodds admitted the slaying after Miss Gifford discovered him and two others in her home. The trio had entered the house bent on robbery, Dodds was quoted as saying.

Brown reported the confession came after a soldier stationed at Fort Knox, Kentucky, told army authorities he was with Dodds during the robbery and named him as the slayer.

Dodds was arrested as a suspect last Monday but steadfastly denied the killing, Brown said. He confessed after Bateman and Brown told him of the soldier's statement. The soldier was identified as Grover E. Rawlins of New Straitsville. The third was not named.

Brown quoted Dodds as saying he knew Miss Gifford through her church work in the New Straitsville area. Dodds' arrest followed receipt of a tip from an unidentified source in Carbondale.

Brown said Rawlins gave this story to army authorities:

Dodds and Rawlins hitchhiked to Columbus the night of Jan. 6 and there met the third man. Dodds, who served three years in the reformatory on auto theft charges, said he knew "where we can get some money." The three hitchhiked to Athens and walked two miles to Miss Gifford's cottage.

A party was going on at the time and the three men waited outside until Miss Gifford drove her friends home. The trio then entered the house, which they ransacked. Miss Gifford returned and the three hid before she entered the house. When the church worker discovered Dodds, he hit her with a claw hammer, the statement continued.

Dodds later confirmed Rawlins' story.

Bateman said first degree murder charges would be filed later today.

Dodd entered the reformatory June 25, 1945, after being sentenced in Hocking county for theft of an auto. He was classed as a juvenile delinquent and sentenced from one year until attaining majority. He served the maximum sentence and was released July 5, 1948, when he became 21.

Sues to Recover Gambling Losses

A Mansfield woman sued today in common pleas court to recover funds her husband allegedly lost while gambling at a north side pool room.

The action was filed by Mrs. Helen J. Ethel, 542½ Lily street, who asks a total of $1,250. The amount includes $750 she said her husband, Arthur, lost gambling at the pool room, and $500 in damages.

The suit names Glenn D. Bethea, doing business as the Corner Billiards, 246 North Mulberry, as defendant. Mrs. Ethel said her husband incurred the losses from Sept. 11, 1947, to Aug. 3, 1948.

Mrs. Ethel's attorney, Homer G. Clark, said in such cases a plaintiff can recover $50 to $500 exemplary or punitive damages, in addition to the actual gambling losses.

Clark said Mrs. Ethel went to Police Chief Jesse Schwab after reading a statement from the chief in a News-Journal story, saying persons should contact him directly if they have any gambling complaints. According to Clark, Chief Schwab told her there was nothing he could do for her.

Clark said Mrs. Ethel then decided to file suit to prevent Ethel from losing any more money gambling and to recover losses her husband had already incurred.

6-MONTH LIMIT

The attorney said only loses sustained more than six months ago can be claimed in such cases. Losses within six months of filing suit can only be claimed by the loser, according to the law. Ethel himself refused to sue for his losses, Clark said.

Clark said most of the $750 lost by Ethel, a truck driver, was lost in poker games. Since Aug. 3, the last date cited in the petition, Ethel has sustained other gaming losses, Clark said.

Two interrogations were added to the petition, asking identity of the owner of the Corner Billiards, and who received the proceeds of gambling activities at the establishment during the period specified in the petition.

The defendant in the case has three weeks to file an answer.

Attacker Beaten to Death

Iranian Shah Shot, Wounds Not Serious

TEHRAN — (UP) — The Iranian government outlawed the leftwing Tudeh political party today after angry crowds wrecked Tudeh clubs throughout Tehran in the wake of yesterday's attempted assassination of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi.

The shah, 30, was wounded twice. Court attaches said his condition was satisfactory.

The gunman who shot the shah died of the beating he took from royal guards and police, authorities announced.

Identified as a photographer for the Moslem newspaper Parcham Islam, he pretended to be taking a picture of the shah and instead fired five shots at him.

Military authorities acting with cabinet and parliamentary approval outlawed the party, whose name of Tudeh means masses. A proclamation accused the party of spreading "revolutionary communist ideology among students and youths."

A palace communique said the shah was recovering satisfactorily from the bullet wounds.

One bullet passed through his face without harming any bones. Another penetrated his back, but the wound was described as superficial. The other three went through his hat.

Even as the proclamation outlawing the Tudeh party was made public, supporters of the shah stormed party headquarters and clubs, smashing furniture and pulling down slogans and signs.

Those Tudeh members who were not among the 14 arrested fled in panic.

Red Firing Protested

BERLIN — (INS) — The U.S., Britain and France protested verbally to Russia today over scheduled Soviet air-to-air firing in one of the airlift corridors.

The western powers lodged the protest at the Berlin four-power air safety center. The Soviets had announced fighter plane practice in the Buckeburg-Berlin airland, between 1500 and 3000 feet.

The Soviet harassment renewal of the airlift came as action to the latest Anglo-American counter-move in the Berlin blockage.

The U. S. and Britain announced last night that effective midnight Sunday, all motor freight traffic between their zones of Germany and eastern Europe will be banned.

Angered Wife Raids Tavern With Shotgun

THOMPSONVILLE, MICH. — (UP) — When Mrs. Gladys Little, 32, became angry at her husband, Willard, because he wouldn't come home from a tavern, she asked the sheriff to do something about it.

But Sheriff Fay Bryan told her that was out of his province.

"Then I'm going to do some shooting," she replied.

Armed with a 16-gauge shotgun, Mrs. Little went to the tavern, placed the muzzle against the plate glass front window and fired.

Bottles crashed. Customers ducked, and three patrons and her husband were hit, none seriously, by the flying pellets.

COLUMBUS — (UP) — State Liquor Director Oscar L. Fleckner declared today that anyone approaching permit holders under the guise of having special contacts or connections with the Liquor department is speaking "purely from imagination."

Flays Reds In the CIO

WASHINGTON — (INS) — An independent labor relations expert told Congress today that the CIO is "communist-infiltrated."

He also declared that CIO President Philip Murray has done "a relatively ineffective job" of combatting communism in the CIO.

The witness, Ludwig Teller of New York, testified before the Senate Labor committee on the administration's proposed labor bill. He said:

"I know what has taken place and the CIO is communist infiltrated."

CITE $50,000 LOSS

HILLSBORO — (UP) — A stubborn fire, burning out of control for nearly two hours, destroyed the interior of the city building here early today with loss estimated at $50,000.

2 Shots Fired At Suspect

Prowler Nabbed In Stolen Car

Two futile shots were fired at an OSR parolee early today as he fled from a farm house, north of Mansfield, after entering and demanding keys to a car belonging to the farmer, J. M. Oney.

Sheriff's Deputies Foster Palmer and Roscoe Swartz were summoned to the farm and captured a suspect, about 29, who is being held for investigation.

Palmer said the suspect went to the farm house about 3:50 a. m., entering through the front door which was unlocked and began searching the house. He awakened Mrs. Oney, who heard the man say: "We're after the keys to your car."

The resulting commotion awakened Oney and his brother and two sons who were sleeping upstairs, and came running down. Oney fired two shots from a .32 revolver at the fleeing suspect as he ran from the house.

The suspect was unarmed, Palmer said. When the deputies arrived they found the man in a stolen car in a ditch near the Oney house. The car, which had run out of gas, had been stolen last night from a Mansfield garage where the man worked. It is the property of Dr. Mabel Emery, of 49 West Second street.

Deputies said the suspect wanted another car since the one he had was out of gas. They surmised he crawled back in the car to keep warm.

BELIEVE TWO INVOLVED

Palmer said there was a possibility two men may have been involved inasmuch as the suspect said "We want the keys to your car." The man has refused to identify any one else.

There were also double tracks in the ground, but the second pair may have been caused by residents of the house, Palmer said.

The suspect was paroled from the Reformatory on Jan. 13 of this year, officials said, after serving nearly 16 months.

Palmer and Mansfield Police Identification Officer Paul Martin continued the investigation today, obtaining fingerprint marks from the stolen car.

Assassination Plot Smashed By Poles

WARSAW — (INS) — An official announcement said today that a plot to assassinate the leading members of the Polish government has been smashed.

CIO Will Demand Pay Boost

WASHINGTON — (UP) — CIO Research Director Stanley Ruttenberg said today his big union will demand a fourth postwar wage increase this year despite declining living costs.

Ruttenberg would not say how much his union will demand. But AFL economists said last night new pay raises should not be less than five per cent.

On the basis of government figures, a five per cent boost would mean increases averaging from seven cents an hour to as high as 15 cents.

The two unions claim more than 13,000,000 organized workers.

Ruttenberg said he will call the research directors of big CIO unions to a conference here next week to lay the groundwork for the fourth-round wage drive.

AGREES WITH AFL

Ruttenberg agreed with the AFL "Monthly Survey" which said that substantial increases must be granted by industry in 1949 to hike purchasing power and prevent mass unemployment and a disastrous price drop.

The two big labor organizations made their stand clear as government officials estimated that unemployment has hit a new postwar peak and is approaching 3,000,000.

The AFL said in its monthly publication that industry should hire 1,000,000 additional workers this year and that the value of the goods turned out should top last year by about $14,000,000,000.

Posse Seeks Rape-Slayer

Fiend Sliced Ear From Young Victim

AMBRIDGE, Pa., — (UP) — Thirty state, county and local police officers joined the search today for the rape-slayer of a 15-year old bobbysoxer who sliced off his victim's right ear as a souvenir.

Police said that tall, slender Margaret Bankowski evidently put up a 'terrific struggle" with her assailant before she was struck down by three blows on the head with "either an axe or a tire tool."

The mutilated body of the honey-haired high school sophomore was found yesterday beneath a blanket of snow on a steel mill slag dump 100 feet from a lonely "lover's lane."

The girl had been missing for nine days. She last was seen walking from a local candy store carrying a portable radio blaring swing music.

Officials Show No Alarm

Grains Follow Down Trend

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange and the Chicago Grain market continued to dip today despite soothing reassurances by Washington officials that yesterday's drop was not alarming.

Key issues in the stock market declined over a wide front at the opening of trade this morning.

Business was active with numerous blocks of 1,000 or more shares changing hands. Losses were mainly in fractions.

Santa Fe Railroad showed the biggest drop, losing 2 points. Losers included American Telephone, Curtiss-Wright, Goodyear, Southern Pacific, Allied Chemical, Du Pont, Woolworth, Illinois Central, U. S. Rubber, United Aircraft, N. Y. Central, Sinclair Oil, U. S. Steel, and Radio corporation.

In Chicago, the grain market opened lower, lard was 40 to 45 cents a hundred pounds lower, and a review of the week's trading showed that cattle had led livestock prices on the downward trend.

YESTERDAY'S SLIDE

These were the developments yesterday:

The New York stock market, the barometer that predicted the 1929 collapse, took its soundest beating in many months, with 61 stocks selling at the lowest price in more than a year.

Also in New York, bond prices suffered one of the sharpest declines of the last 12 months, with nearly 125 isues sagging, some as much as two points.

The Chicago grain market was hit by a storm of selling, with corn, oats, rye and soybeans falling so swiftly that one trader described the market as "demoralized."

The Associated Press index of 35 wholesale commodities dropped nearly a full point, reaching 168.46, the lowest mark since Feb. 6, 1947.

Loose lard was offered on the Chicago board of trade of $12

New Storms Ravage West

DENVER — (INS) — New snow storms beset portions of the blizzard-swept western plains and mountain states today.

History's largest mass bulldozer operation and feedlift flights continued in the army's and air force's all-out battle to free snow-bound residents and livestock.

Meanwhile, heavy snow fell over western Utah and eastern Nevada and blizzard conditions were reported in northwestern Montana.

The sorely-beset livestock range country expected new snow tonight in northern and western Wyoming and in western South Dakota and Nebraska. The fall was expected to extend into Kansas.

More than 8,000 snowbound farm and ranch residents were reached by 1183 army bulldozers, plows and "snow weasels" in the last 24 hours in Nebraska, South Dakota and Wyoming.

Feed was brought for blizzard-starved livestock. Some quarter of a million head of cattle were reached.

Snowslide Buries 2

OGDEN, Utah—(UP)—A huge snowslide roared down a mountain slope on three Union Pacific railroad workers and buried them or pushed them into Bear river reservoir, fellow workers said today.

Red Conspiracy In the U.S.A.

Mrs. Roosevelt Sought To Have Lash Cleared

By ROBERT E. STRIPLING
(Edited by Bob Considine)

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the seventh article of a series examining the Communist conspiracy in the United States. Stripling was until recently the sparkplug of the committee that uncovered widespread communist espionage and propaganda.)

* * *

The House committee on un-American activities would have preferred never to hear again the name of Joe Lash, the highly befriended head of the communist-controlled American Student union.

But there seemed no way by which we could escape him, even after he recanted and splintered away from his former cronies in the communist conspiracy against this government.

A little more than a year after the Hitler-Stalin pact was signed creating wild disorders among U. S. communists attempting to learn the new party line, Lash apparently informed his patroness, Mrs. Roosevelt, that he had repented his past associations with the Reds.

One afternoon I was phoned by a secretary of Mrs. Roosevelt, calling from her office in the Office of Civilian Defense, where Lash was at that time employed as an adviser.

"Mrs. Roosevelt wants to see you at four o'clock this afternoon," the secretary said.

"Why me?" I asked. "And what about?"

"You be there," the girl said. "But what is it about?" I repeated.

"You be there and you'll see."

I told her that since this must concern committee business I

Parallels Axis Sally Case

Former U. S. Official Faces Treason Charge

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Stocky, bald-pated Herbert John Burgman began to plan his fight for life against treason charges today from his cell in the District of Columbia jail.

In the same jail is Mildred Gillars—"Axis Sally"—who also faces a possible death sentence in a treason trial. Miss Gillars is charged with taking a major part in German shortwave broadcasts aimed at breaking down American morale.

Burgman, a 52-year-old former statistician at the American embassy in Berlin seemed bewildered to hear himself described as a traitor. He insists that he is destitute.

Burgman, who was born in Hokah, Minn., peered about uncertainly as the C-54 which had brought him from Germany landed at the Capital's Bolling field.

Four military policemen turned him over at plane-side to waiting FBI agents.

The justice department charged Burgman with having enlisted voluntarily in the psychological warfare branch of the Nazi war effort after he refused to return to the United States in 1941 when the embassy staff was repatriated.

The government further claims that Burgman, using the alias of "Joe Scanlon" broadcast fictitious news reports and commentaries from his short wave transmitter which allegedly used the call letters "Station D-e-b-u-n-k."

At his arraignment last night U. S. Commissioner Cyril Lawrence told the prisoner that America "is a land of free speech" and reminded him that "you will be allowed to communicate with whomever you wish while in jail."

Important Changes Are Taking Place Within Ranks of Unions

CHICAGO—Apart from changes that may be made in federal and state laws, great political rearrangements are taking place within the unions themselves. Some of the old parasites are retiring on royal pensions, having held office longer than most kings ever did.

As I have pointed out, the strongholds of the communists within the CIO have been conquered from within by a few fellow-travelers who appear to have suffered cowardly twinges of fear.

This was an enormous defeat for the Muscovite hosts because the CIO unions were the most important forts the communists invaded outside the White House, the Supreme Court and the departments of state and justice. They are left powerless in the union racket.

The few loudly sanctimonious brands from the burning who pulled this off may be saluted with the same honor that is paid the pig who roots up a truffle

The fruits of their perfidy are tasty, but they are even less worthy of trust than the traitors whom they double-crossed, and should be held in suspicion henceforth as before.

On the non-communist or mercenary front of union politics it is now evident that Dan Tobin, the emperor-president of the Teamsters Union, may at last be written off as a retired barnacle and historic mountebank. He will be unwelcome even to his time on earth by men on inferior wages who are forced to keep him in panoply and luxury and to pay for even his booze and his roulette stacks as long as he lives.

While Tobin maintains a fictitious status of ascended spirit benignly guiding the jerky works of Dave Beck, his successor, from the royal winter palace on Miami Beach, the fact is that Beck pushed him out. He had to go.

As executive vice-president with great powers, Beck is Dan's successor in all but the title. Incidentally, here again we find the serio-comic seeming of divinity which is common among this kind. Tobin's attitude toward Beck is reminiscent of the father's toward the son.

BECK is now churning great commotions within the teamsters union of one million subjects, including milkers, embalmers, pallbearers, cosmeticians, cannery workers and, of course, local and long distance haulers and warehouse hands. Lately, Beck has been operating in Chicago to the alarm of John O'Brien, the regular regional vice-president, whom he has superseded like a gauleiter from Berchtesgaden sent in to "assist" the autonomous government of some voluptuous province.

Beck has a new plan of organization which, under Truman, probably will make him the most powerful individual in the history of the union movement and certainly the most brutal since John L. Lewis ran the C.I.O.

Beck is actually creating a new C.I.O. and he has shown great power and statesmanship in putting this over.

Taking one consideration with another, Tobin was wise to retire to his winter palace on Miami Beach. There he is, flattered by all the comic rites of kow-tow, a burden on his subjects at $30,000 a year and all expenses plus $10,000 for his income tax, plus the palace itself including servants and, by special constitutional provision, plus the providence of any and all booze required for his royal peace and hygiene.

Burglars Get Sausage, Ice Cream

Grocery, 3 Cars Looted In City

Bubble gum, cigarets, sausage and ice cream were in the loot taken in the burglary of the Garden Acre grocery on Ward road, early today.

Sheriff's deputies, shortly after receiving the report of the burglary at 12:35 a.m. apprehended three 17-year-old suspects who are held for investigation. They were in a car near the burglary scene.

According to deputies who investigated, entry was made by breaking the front door glass and crawling through the hole. Deputies said the entire loot consisted of seven cartons of cigarets, two boxes of bubble gum, three boxes of candy bars, three boxes of gum, five pints of ice cream, $3 in pennies, six pounds of sausage and five pounds of wieners.

Part of the loot was found along Ward road, deputies said, and returned to the grocery. This included four cartons of cigarets, one box of candy, one box of gum, several pounds of sausage and a small amount of bubble gum.

Three cases of theft of accesories from parked automobiles were reported to police last night with two at approximately the same time in the vicinity of the Coliseum.

At the same time Robert Lee jr., R. D. 1, Shelby, reported to police two fender skirts valued at $30 were stolen from his car while it was parked near the coliseum.

James Cross, of Ashland, reported the theft of two "Backup" lights from his car while it was parked on the Westinghouse lot. The lights, valued at $14 were stolen between 2:30 and 11 p.m., Cross told police.

Roomer Who Threatened 2 Sought

Willard Starkey, 125 North Mulberry street, came to her assistance, and was struck and threatened by the roomer, Mrs. Stoner said.

When the police arrived the man had fled in his car. Officers took the man's gun to police headquarters.

The Pennsylvania Railroad said it was laying off 2,500 of the 45,350 men in its maintenance of equipment department. They will be furloughed for an indefinite period.

Altogether, the census bureau reported in Washington, there were 2,000,000 more unemployed in January than in December.

Actually, the true drop was only 700,000. Officials said the other 1,300,000 reported as jobless really aren't part of the nation's normal working fare—they were probably holiday employes, students, or others who no longer seek jobs.

But the 700,000 have joined enough others who are out of work and want work, to push America's current unemployment total to 2,650,000 — 600,000 more than in January, 1948.

Officials saw little to worry about, however.

Secretary of Labor Tobin said the present unemployment level "bears careful watching," but he added that "the situation is not alarming."

Dr. Edwin C. Nourse, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said neither the census figures nor skidding food prices alarmed him. He said, however, that "these months are very decisive months."

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan said the decline in food prices was only an adjustment and not the beginning of any drastic trend.

$3,000,000 Cinderella Story

Movie Career Hinted For Miss Truman

BOSTON—(UP)—Hollywood Producer Joseph Pasternak was quoted today as saying he planned to star Margaret Truman in a $3,000,000 "Cinderella" musical.

A spokesman for his studio told the United Press, however, that there had been "no discussion" of putting the President's daughter in the movies.

The Boston Post, in a copyrighted dispatch from Hollywood, said the producer had made the statement to Post Reporter Grace Davidson in the course of a "casual conversation" on a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer set.

"I intend to bring her to the screen in a musical picture worthy of a young artist who is the daughter of the President of the United States," Pasternak was quoted as saying.

"I want to find the perfect musical play for Miss Truman. It must be a picture of permanent worth. I would like to see her playing a waitress who works her way up to becoming a great opera star.

"This is the democratic tradition and particularly fitting for the President's daughter. But it must be cast in a dramatic and beautiful story."

Pasternak was quoted as saying he would "transform her into a beautiful star" if Miss Truman would cooperate.

He said the problem of directing a President's daughter would be "delicate," but that Miss Truman would have to "take complete direction from us."

In the first place, Pasternak was quoted as saying, "For the movies she would be too fat. You have to be really thin for the movies."

Paul Herbert Talks In City

The care and handling of juries and witnesses was described to the Richland county Bar asssociation at its monthly meeting yesterday at the Mansfield-Leland hotel by Paul M. Herbert, former lieutenant governor.

Among the suggestions he presented to the 43 judges and attorneys present were to use simple language in explaining the law to jurors, and treating juries with consideration and courtesy.

"A lawyer never should take a plaintiff's case if he doesn't believe in it," Herbert told the meeting.

He described means by which lawyers could use witnesses for the opposite side for their own purposes, and drew upon actual cases in which he had participated.

The speaker was introduced by Municipal Judge H. H Schettler, bar association president.

'RESCUE' WOMAN

Police get some strange requests. Last night Capt E. E. Hartnett and Patrolman Charles A. Condon received a call from a woman on Bowman street saying a neighbor was locked in her bedroom and was unable to unlock the door. The locked-in woman was ill—the key was jammed, and the combination of events called for outside help. So Hartnett and Condon gallantly crawled out of another bedroom window, crossed the roof, and entered a window to reach the prisoner. They unlocked the door, and all was well again.

January Was Warm, Wet

Last month was the warmest and wettest January in the 12 years official weather records have been kept at the Mansfield sewage disposal plant.

There was 4.25 inches of rain and only a trace of snow. Rainfall totaled a little more than two inches in January last year and 4.18 inches in 1947.

Average maximum temperature last month was 39 and the average minimum was 26. In January, 1948, the average maximum was 25 and the average minimum 11 degrees.

January, 1947, was nearly as warm as last month. The temperatures then ranged from an average low of 25 to an average high of 39.

Fugitives Admit Car Theft

Youth Sent to OSR In Forgery

Five men, including four escapers from Mansfield reformatory, were sentenced by Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch to terms ranging from one to 20 years in the Ohio penitentiary and reformatory yesterday afternoon. Six men were placed on probation for periods from three to five years.

All four escapers were sentenced to one to 20 years in the penitentiary on indictments for operating a motor vehicle without the consent of the owner. The sentence is mandatory for men who escape from the reformatory and subsequently commit felonies.

The four former OSR inmates, Emerson Cain, 21, and Delmar Weaver, jr., 21, of Pickaway county; Mike Hall, 29, of Hamilton county; and Carl Daniels, 21, of Stark county, pleaded guilty to the charges.

Albert McConnell, 19, of Bloomington, Ind., was sentenced to one to 20 years in the reformatory for forgery. Judge Kalbfleisch recommended he be released at the end of the minimum term. McConnell forged a check for $1,000 on a bank in Bloomington, with which he purchased a car in Mansfield.

WINS PROBATION

Robert James Shoup, 22, of 77 Myers avenue, was placed on probation for five years after pleading guilty to charges of forgery and operating a motor vehicle without the owner's permission. Shoup admitted to forging two checks, each for $36 and to the car theft.

Robert Myron Gale, 19, of Galion, a friend of Shoup, was placed on five year's probation for operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent. According to evidence presented by County Prosecutor Harold Lutz, Gale and Shoup had engaged in a series of escapades involving stolen cars.

Gale was ordered to make restitution for damages of $120 and Shoup for $50 to the owners of the cars they had taken. In placing the men on probation, Judge Kalbfleisch said he was "surprised that you boys with your education and background would do what you were doing without realizing sooner or later you'd get caught."

Herbert Lee Yates, 20, of 224 North Diamond street, was placed on five years probation for breaking and entering. The judge read the defendant's juvenile court record before passing sentence. It included a 30-day sentence in the county jail for petty larceny in 1946 and a period of probation two years earlier for breaking and entering.

ORDERED TO PAY

Jesse Miller, of Louisville, O., was placed on probation for five years on charges of neglect to provide for two children. He was ordered to pay $10 a week toward the support of the children unless he is unable to do so for reasons of his health. In the latter case he must present a doctor's certificate to the probation officer.

Claude Gleason Rose, 19, of Nova, was placed on probation for five years for breaking and entering. Thomas W. Garrett, 20, of 224 North Diamond street, was placed on probation for three years for pocket picking.

Elmer Treadwell, 21, of Harmon avenue, pleaded innocent to an indictment for assault with intent to kill and assault with intent to maim.

Sentences for others who pleaded guilty to indictments last week will be passed Monday at 1 p. m.

Church Merger Wins Approval

CLEVELAND—(UP)—The General Council of the Congregational Christian Churches of America today voted to merge with the Evangelical and Reformed church, creating a new denomination of some 2,000,000 members known as the United Church of Christ.

The final vote had not been tabulated, but officials said the necessary majority of ballots had been cast in favor of the historic merger.

The merger, of interest to Protestantism the world over, was the first major move toward unity of two Protestant religious groups stemming from different sources. The two denominations each resulted from former mergers.

Lions Open Sight-Saving Fund Seal Campaign Next Week

The Fourth annual Sight-Saving seal drive, sponsored by the Mansfield Lions club, will open next week, with letters and seals being mailed to local residents.

The Mansfield club, a branch of Lions International, was formed less than six years ago. Its principal object is the furthering of sight conservation and aid to the sightless and near-sightless, R. O. Snyder, chairman of the seal drive, said.

One of its most recent projects has been the purchase and use of the ceiling projector, by which bedfast patients are able to read books in their homes or hospital rooms.

Since the projector's purchase, Snyder said, it has been used just 11 times, and he emphasized today that there is no fee charged for use of the equipment. The only requirement is that those persons wishing to make use of it, call the Mansfield Public library and give their name and address. Members of the Lions club will deliver and demonstrate the projector, he said.

He explained that checks for the Sight Saving Seal drive, now in progress, are to be mailed to P. J. Mayer, treasurer, at the Mansfield Savings and Trust company. The funds will be used to buy white canes for the blind and provide eye examinations and glasses for needy cases.

Bitter Labor Fight On; AFL-ITU Will 'Take Care of Taft'

Old Foes To Testify On T-H Act

Dems Shrug Off Bill's 'Propaganda'

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Two men who became bitter foes under the Taft-Hartley law go before the Senate Labor committee today to tell their stories of the act's 16 months of operation.

Their appearance was scheduled as Democrats, backing repeal of the labor law and enactment of a substitute, dismissed as propaganda" the prediction of Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, that new legislation will contain two-thirds of the Taft-Hartley act.

The two witnesses are.

Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the National Labor relations board.

Woodruff Randolph, president of the AFL International typographical Union

Their fight has been over the Taft-Hartley act's banning of the closed shop—the issue which has had several hundred printers on strike against Chicago's newspapers since November, 1947.

The bitterness of that conflict was hurled in Taft's face on the eve of their appearance when an AFL-ITU member threatened "to take care of" him when he runs for reelection next year.

The warning was given by Lewis M. Herrmann, of Newwark, N. J., secretary-treasurer of the AFL-International Labor Press of America, A Republican member of the New Jersey state legislature, Herrmann told Taft:

"I come from the typographical union. We have no love for you. The boys in Ohio tell me they'll take care of things over there—including you."

Taft shrugged off the warning with:

"I'm collecting those. I had one from Petrillo the other day. I'm saving them for use in the election."

Sens. Pepper (D) Fla., and Murray (D) Mont., leading the fight for Taft-Hartley repeal, said Taft's earlier forecast of substantial reenactment of the present law was just propaganda."

Pepper at the same time predicted the Wagner act would be restored, with the administration's proposed amendments, and only "inconsequential" other changes.

Red Youth Group Leader Again Involved In Probe

would have to consult committee Chairman Martin Dies.

"You just be there," the girl reiterated, and hung up.

I called Dies to tell him of the curious command and he became quite angry with me. He seemed hurt because the call had not come to him. But when one did come to him, later that day and from the same secretary, he decided not to accept the invitation.

The late Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean, a frequent hostess of Mr. and Mrs Dies, changed the congressman's mind. So Dies phoned Mrs Roosevelt the next day, and a luncheon date at the White House was set.

At the conclusion of the luncheon, attended also by Lash and a former president of Smith college, Mrs. Roosevent quickly reached the point. Lash, she said, had seen the errors of his ways and must no longer be pilloried for the mistakes of boyhood. His record should be cleared at a committee hearing as soon as possible.

Dies called Lash several days later, apparently to the surprise of the Republican members of the committee. The reformed youth leader was heard in executive session. He admitted being a national committeeman of the American League Against War and Fascism; membership in its successor, the American League for Peace and Democracy; membership in the American Student Union as well as the American Youth Congress.

The Republican members of the committee then said to Lash that in view of his all-out redemption he probably would now assist the committee by offering information on the workings of the front organizations to which he had belonged.

Lash grew quite indignant He informed the committeemen that he was not before them "in the role of stool-pigeon." He was reminded in turn that it was strange to be seeking a commission in the Naval Intelligence on the one hand, on the other, refusing to shed light on a conspiracy against the United States.

The following day a messenger arrived at Dies office with a letter from Mrs. Roosevelt, accusing him of a double-cross. An answer was asked for, but Dies made none.

The committee's work continued in more important fields. We made public names, positions and salaries of 563 government employes located in Washington who were members of the American League for Peace and Democracy. We made an exhaustive search into the workings of ten CIO unions and obtained sufficient evidence to pronounce them (for the first time) communist-ridden.

About this same time in the life of the committee two events took place which were to ignite tremendous controversy nearly a decade later.

The first event was visible to us, though none of us caught its significance at the time In December, 1939, the committee located and qquestioned William Odell Nowell, of Detroit. Nowell, a former communist trusted with carrying messages back and forth between this country and Moscow, testified at length on the scope of the Red conspiracy.

The other event of 1939 which later had tremendous effect on the committee took place obscurely and without our notice.

An ex-communist courier's confidence in his former ideology had been sorely shaken by the Moscow-Berlin pact. Forty eight hours after it was signed, he came quietly to a decision which—in time—shook the entire United States. He made up his mind to expose his past and the activities of those with whom he had conspired.

His name was David Whittaker Chambers.

Blockade Brings Reprisal

Embargo Put On Shipments to Red Zone

BERLIN — (AP) — Britain and the United States have clamped an embargo on all freight traffic passing through their zones of Germany from European countries to the Soviet zone, effective Sunday.

The embargo affects all rail and road shipments which heretofore have traveled across the bizone into the Soviet zone from countries like Belgium France, Switzerland, The Netherlands, Luxembourg and Denmark

According to the official announcement it was ordered because of restrictions placed by the Russians on travel.

Up to now, although Britain and the United States have closed their borders to the Soviet zone to goods from western Germany, they have allowed shipments from neighboring countries to pass

The move was another effort of the west to tighten the economic squeeze on the Soviet zone in retaliation for the blockade on Berlin

Officials said the effect on traffic would be "considerable." They declined to elaborate

The text of the announcement: "As a consequence of the restrictions imposed upon traffic through the Soviet zone of occupation, it has become necessary for the military governors of the United States and United Kingdom zones of occupation to limit highway traffic transitting their zones of occupation en route to or from the Soviet zone or countries beyond.

Effective 2359 hours (6.59 p.m. EST) February 6 the acceptance at zonal or international boundaries of all highway freight carrying vehicles to, from or through the Soviet zone of Germany will be discontinued.

Passenger carrying vehicles containing no goods other than the personal effects of the passengers will not be affected."

Corum Feels Baseball Club Selling Is Now Too Easy

By BILL CORUM

NEW YORK—(INS)—Too many baseball teams are being sold as if this game of yours and mine was some sort of speculative enterprise. It is not.

Too many people are getting their names on the sports pages through baseball as if the game was some sort of easy publicity dodge. It is not.

The basic stock, the capital stock, in the game of baseball belongs to the kids of America of today, tomorrow and, surely we must all hope, the years to come.

Baseball is not a capital gains deal for any man. Nor a publicity springboard for any man. It should never be permitted to become either.

WISE TO CONSIDER

I don't say that it has. But if you read the sport pages, you know that the trend is in that direction. It seems to me that we have come to the place where it would be wise to stop and consider whither we are high financing.

For the ownership of a baseball team, particularly a major team, is more than the ownership of a piece of property. It borders on being a heritage. Or, if you will, a public trust.

We cannot afford to let baseball get itself into the kind of rat race in which professional football has found itself.

Baseball is different. It had its growing pains, and its wars, long ago. It is a treasured national institution, with some of us the next thing to a religion.

This piece is in no sense a backhanded slap at Commissioner A. B. Chandler, or any club owner.

SOMETHING STRANGE

I do not mean to cast the most minute reflection on Fred Saigh, the new owner of the Cardinals, when I point out that I noted something that struck me as strange in his purchase of Bob Hannegan's interest in that club.

It was only a few years ago that a young man named Alfred Vanderbilt wanted to buy an interest in a major league team. Judge Landis wouldn't allow it on the grounds that Vanderbilt was an important figure in horse racing. So, after the matter was quietly brought up, it was just as quietly—or almost—dropped.

It must be plain to all that as a name, as a figure of financial stability, as a sportsman and personality, Vanderbilt would be an addition to any enterprise.

Judge Landis knew that but stuck by his opinion that baseball and racing should be kept separate.

Now, I have read every story connected with Mr. Saigh's acquisition of ninety percent of the stock in the Cardinals without finding a word to indicate that Chandler was even apprised officially on the deal.

JUST A CALL

The nearest thing I could find to any official sanction was that Saigh himself said that Hannegan telephoned Ford Frick. That Frick regretted Bob's quitting the game and promptly welcomed Saigh as the new owner.

In this instance, I feel sure that it's okay. Am sure that Saigh is a most estimable gentleman and will prove to be an addition to the ranks of club owners.

Yet surely you see my point that if it is going to be that easy, almost any investor could buy any team, then pick up the phone and notify the baseball authorities that his ownership was a fait accompli.

Hamline Quint In 15th Romp

NEW YORK — (UP) — Vern Mikkelson, regarded as a prize package" by most professional basketball coaches, still was guiding Hamline along the main line to an undefeated season today.

Hamline the nation's only perfect record club among the Major college quintets, gained victory No. 15 last night by trampling Concordia college of Moorhead, Minn., 71 to 43. Mikkelson, as usual, was the main siege gun.

The lofty center played a little more than half the game but still managed to sink 21 points.

Mangrum, Riegel Lead Tucson Open Tourney

TUCSON, Ariz., — (AP) — Twenty-one golfers are bunched within six strokes of a pair of leaders today at the start of the third round of the $10,000 Tucson open.

Lloyd Mangrum, Chicago, the pro, and Skee Riegel, Tulsa, Okla., the amateur, are out in front. They have 36-hole totals of 130.

Ready for Action

For the first time in two months, the Cleveland Barons will have Goalie Roger Bessette and a full line of defensemen ready for action when they go against Buffalo tonight.

Doctors Discover Another Broken Bone In Hogan

EL PASO, Tex., — (UP) — Ben Hogan, the nation's leading golfer and currently the country's most talked-about hospital patient, was hoping today that the doctors wouldn't find any more broken bones in his already battered body.

For the second day in a row since he was seriously injured in a highway automobile accident on Wednesday, Dr. Davis Cameron discovered a new broken bone yesterday. This time it was a tiny fracture in one of his ribs. Before that, x-ray revealed a broken collar bone, a fractured pelvis and broken ankle bone.

The pint-sized king of the fairways was told, however, that his numerous fractures would knit within two months and that he could leave hotel Dieu hospital for his home in Fort Worth within two weeks.

Freddie Dawson Kayoes Docusen

CHICAGO — (INS) — Freddie Dawson, a Chicago lightweight with a punch like a pint-sized pile-driver, offered himself today as the logical contender for either the light or welterweight crowns—but there were complications.

Dawson hammered number one welterweight aspirant Bernard Docusen to a sixth-round tko last night before 10,166 fans at the Chicago Stadium.

Denies Rumor

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., — (INS) — Head football coach Wally Butts of Georgia denies he is planning to resign to become coach of the professional Washington Redskins.

Reds Play Pros

LEESVILLE — The Leesville Reds will meet the Willard Pros at 8 p. m. tonight in the high school gym. The Reds are gunning for their 17th basketball victory against three defeats.

Marion Harding Slips By Galion Cagers, 57 to 53

GALION — After having the score tied several times the Harding High Presidents of Marion won a hard-fought basketball game here last night from the Galion high Tigers, 57 to 53.

Harding gained its advantages in the first half, outscoring Galion by two points in the first quarter and four points in the second to lead 27-21. Galion kept the pace even in the third period and picked up two points in the fourth before losing forward Ray Seif via the five foul route.

Harding's stellar center, J. Daum, tallied 26 points by making nine goals and eight free throws. Galion's forward, Newman, was next high in the game with six field goals, and three fouls.

In the preliminary game, the Harding Junior Varsity swamped Galion Jayvees, 46 to 13.

Ed Chelski's Held to One From Court

By CHARLEY STINE

Madison's second-string basketball team played better than the varsity last night as the Rams presented a 44-40 decision to the visiting Crestline Bulldogs.

The Rams did a complete reversal of form from their stunning victory of last Friday. They brought the ball only half-way down the floor on many occasions before surrendering it with long shots. Altogether Madison took the amazingly large total of 100 shots and made only 17.

Particularly erratic in shooting was the Rams leading scorer Ed Chelski, who made only one of 24 attempts from the field. A majority of the shots were from far back.

SECONDS GOT HOT

With Madison trailing 21-11 in the second quarter, Coach Blaine Dowler benched his entire first team. The second five seized its opportunity and scored six straight points. They tried valiantly to cut the lead farther but the size of the Crestline first-stringers soon wore them down.

Even so, the reserves returned to the bench at the end of the third quarter with the knowledge of having gained two points on a team which had outscored the varsity by ten. Third period score was 33-25.

The varsity did manage to pull to within one point at 37-36 and again at 39-38 in the fourth period.

BETTER FROM COURT

Madison outscored Crestline from the field, 17-15, and had it been able to hit better from the foul line, would have won the ball game. The Rams made only six of 20 free throws while Crestline converted on 14 of 21. Center Johnny Johnson connected on seven of eight for 13 points while the speedy Glenn Miller led with 14.

Ray "Dutch" Bader led Madison in scoring with 11 points as he was the only Ram able to hit with any degree of consistency. Jim Brightbill also played nice ball under the basket and contributed nine counters.

DAVIES GETS SIX

For the second team, Dave Davies racked up six points and in general set up the plays while Russ Glenn and Gene Riblet looked good from in close.

In the preliminary, the Madison reserves had little trouble in subduing Crestline, 43-32. Madison led 35-18 when Coach Ennis Walker flooded the floor with substitutes at the beginning of the fourth quarter

Coach Takes Club Off Court

WAKEMEN — Wakeman won a forfeit over Greenwich in a Huron county league game here last night when Coach Lindsey Lowe of Greenwich took his team off the floor with five minutes to go.

Wakeman was leading 41-36 when Lowe withdrew his team in protest of officiating. Working the game was Harry Shadle and Fred Sector of Norwalk, both of whom are veteran officials.

New Haven defeated Townsend 44-26 at New Haven to share the Huron county league title with idle Monroeville. Both have five victories and one defeat.

Nick Weber Bowls Over 680 Pins In Moose Loop

Nick Weber, the former Tennessee backfield ace, knocked down tenpins with the same abandon last night he once used to bowl over the opposing secondary.

Although getting off to a slow start with a 191, Nick soon got wound up and smacked final games of 255 and 234 for a rugged 680. Not bad for a fellow in his second season of serious bowling.

Just two weeks ago, Nick had blasted a 676 for the top series of his career.

Nick's effort was tops in the 24-team Moose league as Don Dancer glided home second with a consistent 211-205-204—620. Next in line on the Colony slides were: Jon Klish, 117-189-227—593; Al Stirtzinger, 212-213-167—592 and Ed Burger, 202-203-187—592.

Freddies Meet Lima St. Rose In 'Big' Game

FREDERICKTOWN — Mighty Fredericktown, undefeated in 20 games this season, today prepared for what may be its stiffest test so far—a battle with Lima St. Rose, runner-up for the state class B crown last year.

St. Rose and the Knox county school will clash in the Kenyon college field house tonight.

Win Streak Of Ontario Ends At 12

ONTARIO—Ontario's long winning streak came to an end at 12 games here last night, crumpled by an underdog Lexington team which was counted out of the Richland county league basketball race as long as six weeks ago.

The Minutemen still have little chance of doing as much as tying for the title but they kept alive their slight hopes by outrushing the pace-setting Warriors on their own floor.

LEAD IN FIRST

Ontario led only in the first quarter. Lexington took the lead just before the close of the period and never relinquished it, although Ontario tied it up five times. The Minutemen held their biggest lead, 39-32, with four minutes to play when the Warriors made a gallant bid to score victory No. 13.

They scored seven straight points to tie the count at 39-39 before Lexington Guard Duane Wirick dropped in two free throws to spell the difference.

Ontario reserves also were beaten by Lexington's fine little team, 28-27. The largest crowd of the season jammed the Ontario gym long before the preliminary started. A line began to form outside the gym door as early as 5:30 p. m.

Bellville Club Blasts Shiloh

SHILOH — Bill Balliett, diminutive junior guard pumped 23 points through the nets here last night to pace Bellville's Blue Jays to a 54-25 victory over Shiloh.

The victory, coupled with Ontario's defeat by Lexington moves Bellville to within one game of the leaders with two games left to play. Bellville is host to Ontario next week.

The Blue Jays played last night's game without the services of three regulars, Bill Smith, Will Walker, and Bill Lyon, who were benched by Coach Harry Regula.

Bellville won the reserve game 23-17 after leading by only 12-9 at the end of the third quarter.

Plymouth Goes Into 5th Spot

PLYMOUTH — Plymouth took over undisputed possession of fifth place in the Richland county basketball league with a 49-39 conquest of Union here last night. The victory avenged a defeat of the first half season.

Desmond Donnenwirth closed the gap on Ontario's Howard Sunnucks for the individual scoring leadership with 17 points. Ronald Trauger and Dean Grabach chimed in with 11 and 10.

Union outscored Plymouth only in the third period after trailing 23-15 at the half. The Pilgrims led by only 30-28 going into the fourth period but Donnenwirth got "hot" and Plymouth piled up the points as the end neared.

Plymouth also won the reserve game, 39-10 with Wayne Matthews leading the way with 14 points.

Jim Anderson Sinks Pay-off Field Goal

ASHLAND—Mansfield Senior high school ended Ashland's long home court winning streak here last night, 43 to 41.

Slender Jimmy Anderson climaxed the hectic court battle by scoring the winning field goal on a one-hand push shot with the clock showing only 25 seconds. Guard Ray Bates had knotted the count for Ashland some eight seconds previously.

More than the normal quota of thrills were packed into the contest which was a typical edition of one of Ohio's longest court feuds. Perhaps the brand of basketball was a bit below standard but that didn't bother anybody at the action-packed contest.

Ashland's 17-game home winning streak went the way of all things last night as the Tygers won their 40th victory in the 75th renewal of the series. The last time Ashland lost at home was also to a Mansfield team in January of 1947.

FIGHT IN FRONT

Scoring steadily in the last half the Tygers built up a 39-to-31 advantage, largest of the game, as only two minutes remained. Then the Ashland guns, dormant for well over two periods, suddenly became active.

Doug Shilliday tossed home a long one-hander but Anderson countered with a free toss. Ashland Forward Phil Lersch connected on a pair of free throws and Bates was successful on a pivot to cut the Tyger lead to 40-37 with 90 seconds left. Paul Ferguson dropped in a gratis shot but in five seconds Lew Russell of Ashland hit a pivot shot which set the stage for Bates' tying toss.

Ashland was in the driver's seat throughout the first half, leading at the quarter, 13 to 8, and at halftime, 20 to 18. Anderson almost single-handedly pulled the Tygers back in the game in the second quarter with four of his eight fielders.

DEMYAN TIES GAME

Ed Demyan sent the Tygers into a tie with a pair of charity tosses to open the second half and Ken McCally followed with a one-hander to put Mansfield in the van for the first time, 22 to 20. Ferguson added a foul before Ashland got its only field goal of the quarter.

Coach Vern Hoffman's lads finished the heat with six straight points and looked off to the races.

But Ashland buckled down to outscore the Tygers 18-14 in the final quarter and keep the game interesting. However, only accuracy from the foul line kept the Ashland hopes alive for the first three quarters. In the three periods, the A's connected on seven field goals but made nine of 14 fouls.

SHOOTING NOT GOOD

The alert Bengal defense forced Ashland to fire desperation shots in the middle stanzas and the home club made only three of 33 tries.

In over-all shooting, Mansfield had 16 of 60 shots and Ashland, 14 of 63. From the foul line, the Tygers had 11 of 18 and Ashland, 13 of 20.

Phil Lersch, Ashland's leading scorer, did not connect from the court and had to be content with four fouls. Anderson easily topped the scorers with 18 points.

Shilliday, Ashland, committed four fouls in the closing minutes when Ashland pressed the Tygers all over the court.

The Tygers have now won 10 and lost five while Ashland's record stands at 10 victories and four defeats.

SOPH CLUB ROMPS

The Tyger sophomores helped their boss Fred Staub to an enjoyable evening. Staub became a father just Thursday night so his lads presented him with a coveted victory over the Ashland Junior Varsity, 48 to 28.

The victory ended a 10-game Ashland winning streak and gave the sophs revenge for an earlier defeat. Senior high has now won 10 and lost two. Stb's club hopped into a seven-point lead and was in front at the intermission points 12-9, 19-10 and 30-21.

Gene Fidler had 12 points for Mansfield.

Leading Gophers Meet Ohio State

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Minnesota, leading the big nine basketball race by one game, will depend on the league's best defense to carry it to victory over Ohio state, the best offensive team, here tonight in the conference game of the week.

Illinois, in second place in the league chase, will play at Wisconsin and Michigan's defending champions will oppose Northwestern in the Chicago stadium, but both games run behind the Minnesota-Ohio State clash in importance.

The Gophers, in seven games, have held league opponents to an average score of 39.1 points per game. Indiana netted only 28 points against Minnesota.

On the other hand Ohio State has hit the Buckeys at an average clip of 58.5 points per contest. The Bucks' high was 68 against Northwestern.

Five of the league's top ten scorers will appear in the game. Minnesota boasts the first two in the race, center Jim McIntyre with 112 points, and runner-up White Skoog with 111.

But for Ohio State three of the mighty 10 will run. Bob Raidiger, the center, ranks fourth with 88 points, forward Dick Schnittker fifth with 75, and forward Bob Donham eighth with 64. Schnittker, however, has appeared in only four games compared to six for Donham and Raidger and seven for McIntyre and Skoog.

Dandy Dick, who missed the Iowa and Wisconsin games because of a strep infection, has averaged 18.8 points per conference game, the best in the circuit.

Ohio State was a two point underdog for the contest, but the Buckeyes lost to Illinois on the same floor by only one point, 64 to 63, and Illinois beat Minnesota by only one point, 45 to 44, at Champaign, a pair of scores which would indicate about an even contest.

Illinois was expected to have a minimum of trouble with Wisconsin's uncertain five at Madison, but there was always a chance for an upset in big nine play. The Illini bounced the Badgers, 62 to 50, in their first game this season at

Jesus Teaches and Heals — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Mark 1:14-15, 21-45; Luke 4:16-30.

After John the Baptist was put in prison, Jesus began His ministry, going into Galilee and preaching repentance and belief in the gospels.

Jesus first turned an evil spirit out of a man, then a leper threw himself at Christ's feet, saying "If Thou wilt Thou canst make me clean."

Jesus put forth His hand to the leper, saying, Be thou clean," and the man was healed. Jesus told him to tell no one, and sent the man away.

Because of this deed—which the leper told to everyone—Jesus' fame was such that He retired to the desert to pray.

Lutheran Mission Marks V-J Day With Ceremonies

V-J Day will be observed at the Lutheran Mission tomorrow morning when members meet at the First Adventist church, 152 Cline avenue.

V-J day for the congregation means Victory for Jesus, Rev. Wray Smith, pastor, explained. The meeting is the second Sunday service since the beginning of the evangelism campaign for the new mission.

Speaker for tomorrow morning's service will be Dr. E. E. Flack, dean of Hamma Divinity school, of Wittenberg college. Dr. Flack will speak on the theme, "Witnessing for Christ."

During the past two weeks, charter members of the church, under the leadership of Donald D. Cram, have been carrying on a visitation program. More than 100 families have been contracted, and of that number more than 51 per cent are favorable to the cause of the new Lutheran Mission, Cram said.

On Sunday, Feb. 27, a name will be chosen for the new church and further plans made for the expansion of the charter membership.

End to Cold War Rests On Good Faith of Reds

Last week in an address to the New York State Bar association the counselor of the state department, Mr. Bohlen, raised the crucial question in our relations with the Soviet Union. It is whether it is possible to make agreements that Russia will carry out. Bohlen's attempt to answer this question is of the greatest interest, not only because of his high responsibility and great influence but also because of his long study of the question. He gave what appear to be two contradictory answers. Early in the address he said that in view of the failure of the Soviet government "to live up to international commitments" it is "difficult to see what useful purpose would be served by acceding to pressure for compromises on our part in order to achieve agreements of doubtful validity." . . . "until a fundamental change is made in that respect.

"But shortly thereafter he said that while "the deep cleavage" . . . "is not susceptible of being bridged by the magic of an agreement" . . . "this does not mean that the practical unresolved questions of the post-war world may not be progressively settled."

Bohlen did not explain how the practical unresolved questions can be settled when no useful purpose is served by agreements of doubtful validity. He seemed to be saying that there is no use making agreements but that practical questions can be progressively settled by agreements.

The key to Bohlen's difficulty is to be found, I think, in a sentence which followed immediately after his statement that practical questions may be progressively settled: "But we must clearly recognize that such agreements on practical questions as may be reached will not in themselves bring about a fundamental solution."

What would be a fundamental solution? Other passages in his address make it quite clear that he means by a fundamental solution a change in "the profound doctrine" of the Soviet union which denies that international law is "a universal concept applicable to all nations."

SOLUTION POSSIBLE

Since such a change in the profound doctrine is not to be expected, there can be no fundamental solution. How then can Bohlen believe that practical questions can be settled? He can believe it, I would suggest, because the history of the world is replete with examples of how practical questions can be settled though there is no fundamental solution of the conflicts of doctrine.

Indeed, it may be said that none of the great religious conflicts of mankind has been ended by a fundamental solution in Bohlen's meaning of the words-certainly not the conflict between the Latin and the Greek Church, between Islam and Christendom, between Protestantism and Roman Catholicism. These conflicts have ended in what diplomats call a modus vivendi, a recognition of spheres of influence, in mutual toleration but not in a change of the profound doctrine which settled the conflict "fundamentally."

If we study the record of the agreements with the Soviet union, we shall find, I believe, that many of them have been broken but that some of them have been observed.

Thus, for example, the Yalta agreements about political arrangements inside the Soviet zone of military domination have ..ll been broken. But the Yalta agreement fixing the boundaries of the Soviet army has not been broken.

A thorough examination of the difference between agreements that are broken and agreements that are observed would be enormously useful to the State department and to American public opinion. For it would almost certainly lead Bohlen and the rest of us to a better understanding of the very practical question which is: What kind of agreement is it useful to negotiate?

Only then would the contradictions in Bohlen's address, which are so confusing, disappear. For then he would no longer say that there is no useful purpose in achieving agreements and yet that practical questions may be settled progressively. He would, as one of the responsible makers of policy, be able to say that there are certain types of agreements which are worth trying to make, others which it is not worth trying to make.

And then we should be out of the realm of theory and back in the realm of common sense.

HINTS OF SPRING—Lucas community farmers are getting ready for spring which may be just around the corner. Two "sharpening" procedures are shown in the upper photos. Clayton Heimberger, left, is welding a point while J. G. Woods is demonstrating how the grindstone, formerly used for plow points, now comes into use for some small appliances. The insert is Henry Blust, life-long farmer, who is one of those far-sighted enough to shop early for his spring seeds. At lower left Kenneth (Nate) Zody and Alva Bechtel, farmers themselves and repairmen at the McCready Implement store, smile their approval of the renovation and repaint job given a five-year-old tractor belonging to Earl Peterson, Widowville. The picture at right shows the first of the spring lamb crop on the J. G. Woods farm where raising Corriedale sheep is a specialty. This ewe was one of a flock whose fleeces averaged 12½ pounds last year. Some of them weighed as high as 18 pounds.

No Vacation In the Country

Farmers Busy Getting Ready For Spring

By VIRGINIA LEE

Sunshine or storm, Lucas farmers and the merchants who serve them are busy now preparing for a busier spring.

City people who may think that farmers are on vacation because the harvest is long over and spring planting time hasn't come might hire out as farm hands for this "slack season"—if they could stand the pace!

Most farmers could use a good man, mechanically inclined enough to get the cultivators, mowers, planters and such equipment repaired ready for use; or a man with a back strong enough to shovel out the stables (it's the spreading not the loading that's most commonly mechanized). Or, farmers could use a hand, with no special qualifications, who is willing to do the feeding, milking and such chores to free the farmer for these other duties along with mending the barn door, putting on that shingle that blew off awhile back, pruning the fruit trees, or patching the plaster on the kitchen ceiling. The farmer's wife is anxious to get repairs made and the house cleaned too so she will be free to spend more time with the chicks and in the garden when spring comes.

'It seems farmers don't get caught up to enjoy much leisure until something else comes along" remarked John G. Woods, who forsook a Pittsburgh banking career to become a Monroe township farmer three years ago following military service. His specialty on the former R. W. Hartman 260-acre farms, known locally as the "Wigton place", is Corriedale sheep. His seasonal work includes preparation for the spring lambs.

Woods continued: "One of my ewes got ahead of my schedule and dropped her lamb in the snow outside the barn while I was working to get a clean, warm place fixed for them in the barn".

His barn, complete with sun-lamp-heated individual pens for the ewes and their lambs, is spacious enough to provide adequate shelter for early arrivals.

Don't assume either that the farmer is playing hooky from his work when he is not at home. Few farm shops afford tools to compete with implement repair and welding shops which specialize in serving the farmer.

"It's simply good business to realize that major mechanical repairs can be made better and cheaper by skilled hands in a well equipped shop", explained Donald Rummel, another Lucas community farmer, as he carried a part for his manure spreader from the McCready Implement store to the Heimberger Welding shop. That opinion is shared by Earl Peterson, Widowville farmer, who has just had his five-year-old tractor renovated.

"I didn't count the plow points I've already sharpened", Clayton Heimberger remarked as he pushed up his goggles after finishing the last of the lot on hand, "but there must have been around a hundred."

★

FEW PROGRESSIVE farmers now risk planting home-grown seed, that requires tedious testing and cleaning. They prefer hybrid seed because germination is guaranteed in the commercial market varieties.

John Stotts jr. and Henry Blust, both born-on-the-farm farmers, were among those who took advantage of milling day at the Lucas Equity to select clover seed for spring planting.

"Farmers often kill two birds with one stone", Blust said. "We have to come down for feed every few days so we might as well stock up on the seed we're soon going to be needing".

"It pays to look around at the different varieties of seeds, feeds and fertilizers anyway," Stotts agreed. "Farmers can learn lots from their dealers and by comparing experiences with other farmers they meet there."

Many of Lucas' businessmen are themselves former farmers.

Doll Parade and Story Hour Arranged For Area Children

A special event on the Mansfield Public library calendar this month is the Doll Parade and Story Hour planned for Saturday, Feb. 12, Miss Eva Leonard, child's librarian, said.

The program will start shortly before 10 a. m. in the Story Hour room, at which time the children are being asked to bring their favorite dolls.

The Doll Parade will get under way at 10 a. m. Miss Leonard said, with the youngsters participating in a march across the front of the room on a raised platform to display their dolls. As they leave the platform they will march across the balcony and leave their dolls with the attendant in the Sherman room, she said.

Because a number of requests have been received by library patrons wishing to see the doll display, Miss Leonard said the children are being asked to leave their dolls for the entire week following the program, at which time they will be on display in the Story room from 4:00 until 5:00, and 7:00 until 9 p. m. daily.

Miss Leonard said that each doll must be clearly and securely labelled with the name and address of the owner, and plans call for an attendant to be on hand during the display periods.

A feature of the story-telling hour at the program will be a guest, Mrs. Lois Pennell, county librarian, who will tell several appropriate stories to the youngsters.

Senate Rule Useless Against Filibusters

Senator Kenneth Wherry, stalwart Republican Senate conservative, overwhelmed usually voluble newspapermen in a radio interview from Omaha during the recent meeting of the Republican national committee. The only reason for GOP disaster last November, the Nebraska senator vehemently alleged, was failure of his party "to sell our product to the voters in language simple enough for them to understand."

Meanwhile, here in Washington his Republican fellow-Senators with but one or two exceptions, along with a not inconsiderable number of northern Democrats, are busily engaged in making a record which may make futile the ringing of doorbells of Americans concerned with human rights, especially Negroes. The occasion is the hearings on various proposals to amend Senate Rule XXII which deals ineffectively in its present form with filibusters.

Southerners opposed to liberalization of the Senate rules entered the hearings with a strange but becoming humility. Chastened by the stinging defeat suffered in the attempt of the Dixiecrats to capitalize on race hatred, patently anxious about political patronage and their future status in the Democratic party, and embarrassed at being on the defensive for the first time since the Civil War, they were much less sure of themselves.

One of their leaders recently admitted that a poll of the Senate had revealed that they could not prevent amendment of the rules to authorize cloture by a simple majority of the Senate (instead of the present two-thirds) if the northern senators were determined and sincere in keeping their campaign pledges to amend the rules.

But as the hearings progressed, the gun-shy Southerners became much less deferential as they saw the powder-puff opposition which confronted them. The toothy smile of Senator John C. Stennis, who succeeded the late Senator Bilbo, but who is manifestly a much abler and more honorable man than his predecessor, became less strained. The swarthy son and successor to the Senate seat of the late Huey Long waxed increasingly vocal and belligerent, eventually threatening Senator Henry Cabot Lodge with blocking all legislation in the 81st Congress if the filibusterers did not have their way.

ONLY ONE BACKER

Only one senator stood by the principle that the rules must be amended to provide for cloture by majority vote if any civil rights legislation is to be enacted. Republicans and Democrats alike privately admitted that debate cannot be limited under the present requirement of two-thirds. But publicly they advocated surrender of this basic principle on the ground of expediency, shuddering at the threats of a Southern filibuster.

One of the newer Democratic senators told me in disgust with the spectacle that "both my party and the Republicans are equally guilty and will continue to try to get away with this hypocrisy unless the people of the country raise hell." An almost equally nauseated Republican senator remarked that "I wonder why every Negro in the United States doesn't turn communist."

Several advocates of the two-thirds rule were asked why they did not advocate election of senators by that proportion instead of the present majority since they said they believed such an arrangement is necessary to preserve freedom of debate. Some of them who had won their senate seats by very slender margins shuddered at what they obviously considered a most irrelevant question.

A significant revelation during these hearings, however, is that public opinion in the United States has so materially shifted on the issue of filibustering that its practitioners are painfully on the defensive. All members of the senate are acutely aware that the problem cannot be evaded much longer. Every one of them with only a few exceptions would give almost anything, including principle, to duck the issue.

Therein lies a moral weakness which is as evident on one side of the aisle as the other. But they feel the uncomfortably hot breath of public opinion, almost as heated in the South as in other parts of the country, blowing upon their Senatorial necks.

All but the most unintelligent among them are awakening to the fact that they won't have much of a product to sell the voters, come 1950 and 1952, if the disgrace of filibustering is not ended by decisive action now.

PAGE FOUR — MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1949

Drive carefully tonight and tomorrow—make sure that the accident is the other fellow's fault.

A Cincinnati item of 100 years ago lists: "Whisky—Market dull at 15½ cents a gallon"—which is probably what some people mean by "the good old days."

Word comes that a book borrowed 127 years ago has just been returned to a Vermont public library—just an oversight perhaps, by a reader who fully intended to return it sooner.

Relief Agencies Lack Supervision

SUCH AN AIRING of the muddled condition existing in Richland county relief agencies as is now taking place may eventually result in sufficient display of public interest to produce beneficial results.

Lack of co-ordination of various agencies seems to be the weak spot in the present setup, and there is appearance of agreement that all assistance organizations should have a general supervisory head to facilitate action and avoid the confusion to which Probate Judge Stuart H. Cramer directed attention at a meeting of county commissioners, Child Welfare board and representatives of the state department of public welfare.

According to Guy Stewart, chairman of the board of county commissioners, need of a co-ordinating agency has been realized for a number of years and establishment of a county welfare department had been "frequently considered."

It appears that the present situation isn't a new development but is the outgrowth of years of growing complications. It should not be allowed to go on indefinitely, however, now that some intelligent thought is being given to betterment of methods.

Do You Get Your Sales Tax Stamps?

A RECOGNIZED weakness of the Ohio sales tax system is the ease with which the tax can be collected in stores without giving the stamps to which purchasers are entitled. Lack of interest on the part of patrons makes this possible, as few people remember to ask for their sales tax stamps unless they are being contributed for some group activity which benefits by the redemption provision of the law.

While many stores regularly give stamps with taxable purchases, or have a convenient container into which clerks drop the stamps not taken by customers, some others obviously neglect to tear off the stamps unless the customer asks for them.

A News-Journal reader directs attention to an experience in what she refers to as "a nearby town" where she says she made a recent purchase of an article that cost more than $40, on which she paid the state sales tax but received no stamps and her assumption is that the amount of sales tax became an added profit. She believes that such practices should be stopped, as funds are thus diverted from state revenues and the public deprived of services this tax is intended to provide.

This incident gives emphasis to what had been said before—when you make taxable purchases be sure that you receive the tax stamps to which you are entitled, and give them to some organization which will use their refund value for a worthy cause.

Majority Can Now Do the Deciding

THE OHIO LEGISLATURE has set an example for Congress. The House of Representatives has changed its rules so that a majority may bring out for a vote any bill which has been bottled up by the rules committee. For years, under either party, bills of great public interest have been kept from a vote by the mere say-so of this committee. This veto power is now at an end.

The House of Representatives of Congress has just altered its rules so that the chairman of a committee may move to bring out for passage a bill referred to his committee if he thinks that the rules committee does not intend to report it. This may end abuse of the powers of the rules committee, or it may turn out that every member of the House should have this privilege also, and not be dependent on the whim of a committee chairman.

Successful working of representative government depends on the freedom of a majority to pass bills it favors. That is why Massachusetts requires committees to make a formal report on every bill, favorable or otherwise. The veto by an inner clique is a despotic power which should not be continued.

Yes, Lady, There Are 'Such People'

FIRST INCLINATION to sympathize with a person who is robbed of life savings of several thousand dollars is likely to be overcome by revelation that the loss resulted from the dumbness of carrying around such a large amount of money instead of banking it, or at least putting it in a reasonably safe place.

Report of latest incident of this sort comes from Huntington, W. Va., where a woman tells of being robbed of between $10,000 and $12,000 in currency and $5,000 in bonds when her handbag was taken while she was attending a movie.

She is quoted at having said that she "just couldn't believe there were people in the world who would steal a person's life savings."

Distressing as it may be, there are "such people," however—and also the kind of people who make it easy for thieves, confidence men, and crooks in general, to ply their various nefarious trades.

Gifts From France Express Gratitude

THE GRATITUDE TRAIN sent to this country from France, an answer to our own Friendship Train, is a gesture which will be understood and appreciated by all Americans.

The people of this country have extended material generosity to Europe in many ways, individually, in private projects and through government programs. It is natural to ask, sometimes, if this generosity is appreciated.

The Gratitude Train, like the Friendship Train, is laden with a collection of all sorts of things that individuals wanted to give, as their own personal tokens. It is a kind of gift that can be accepted as a happy symbol of appreciation for what Americans have given to France and the rest of Europe.

Raymond Moley's Analysis

What After Repeal of T-H Labor Law?

THE NEW labor bill reveals vividly the dangers and hypocrisy of campaign double-talk. In an appeal for labor votes President Truman merely echoed the litany of Messrs. Green and others: "Repeal the Taft-Hartley Act."

But, although Truman and Green used the same words, they did not think the same thoughts. Messrs. Green, Lewis and Murray want the Wagner Act and nothing else.

Truman having had to govern without power to regulate labor, wanted much more. And so in drafting the bill now sponsored by the administration, the pious fraud is practiced of formally repealing Taft-Hartley and re-enacting Wagner.

The bill continues with a lot of more-or-less meaningless formulas and regulations that would leave us in a twilight zone of wishful thinking. It is, as Senator Aiken might have wished to quip; a toothless wonder.

Wishful thinking grows as Secretary Tobin seeks to justify his child. In the case of threatened strikes that would paralyze the nation, Tobin claimed that after the President proclaims that the "public interest" is involved, "public opinion" will prevent work stoppage. At this point, according to newspaper reports, Senator Taft laughed.

And so, no doubt, did John L. Lewis laugh and A. F. Whitney laugh and a lot of other labor leaders laugh. For public opinion is a difficult thing to measure, as Messrs. Gallup and Roper learned, much to President Truman's profit and delight.

* * *

What Is "Public Opinion"?

JOHN L. LEWIS might have repeated what he has often said in the past. His claim has always been that he is not guided by what the big newspapers say.

He is guided by what his miners say in an emergency and by what is said in the small papers in the mining regions. To Lewis and to other labor leaders there is no single public opinion.

There is the opinion expressed in papers and by people who speak the language of opposition, and there is the opinion which comes from the minority that favors a strike.

In fact, the whole purpose of a strike where the public interest is involved is to use the great leverage enjoyed by a minority in a strategic position to compel a majority to grant something it does not want to grant.

No one knows this better than President Truman, who has used the Taft-Hartley provisions to provide "public opinion" with the only means it has to enforce its interests—namely, law and law-enforcing courts.

But now, under the pressure of a desire to carry out a promise that never should have been made, the President seems willing to cast away the power that served so well in the past.

I say "seems" advisedly, for it cannot be that the President, if like Hitler or Stalin he enjoyed the power of legislation, would enact such a bill into law.

The bill is probably intended to do two things: First, to make good a promise; second, to provide a basis for bargaining with Congress. This is that form of hypocrisy which is often designated as "trading."

For this Congress is not bound by a promise to repeal the Taft-Hartley Act. If we assume, as we should, that the new uncommitted members will divide evenly, there will be no majority to repeal the Act.

And what is still more important, it is quite certain that many who favor a revision of the Taft-Hartley Act will not favor this particular version of amendment.

And so we shall see a not-too-brave gesture by the administration to enact a revision, followed by a pretty thorough revision of the revision.

Labor will end up with some paring down of the Taft-Hartley Act; the administration will have saved face; Congress will vote with an eye to 1950; and the "public" will get what it deserves. For if there had been an articulate "public" in the campaign, it would have demanded something more than generalities from both candidates.

Washington Calling

What Will Dewey Say?

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — After his defeat last November, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey met a friend from the midwest who was consoling him on the disaster. By way of consolation the friend spoke of the handicap Governor Dewey had been under in running on the same ticket in the friend's state with tenth-rate local candidates.

"Yes," said the GOP presidential nominee, smiling, "I know exactly what you mean. They were pretty bad.

"But you should have been with me when I visited your neighboring state. There I found myself on the rear platform on the train with a candidate who smelled like a saloon and looked like a refugee from Alcoholics anonymous.

"While I held him up so that he wouldn't fall over, I had to tell the assembled citizenry that I hoped they would vote for this specimen. No, my friend, your state was not by any means unique."

According to close associates, Governor Dewey's present determination is to speak his mind about the handicaps his party put him under last fall. He will take the occasion of his Lincoln Day address in Washington on Tuesday night (Feb. 8) to make a fighting talk in which he will release some long pent-up feelings.

The Republican national committee, meeting in Omaha, gave Governor Dewey a cue for that kind of speech. Both in the public sessions where the tone was one more of sorrow than of anger and in the smoke-filled rooms where Dewey-haters really let themselves go, the blame for defeat was put solely and entirely on the fallen standard-bearer in Albany.

* * *

May Speak Frankly.

NOTHING was said about the discredited hacks running for national and local offices. Nothing, or almost nothing, was said of the national committee's stout determination to resist every change that has occurred since the era of William McKinley.

So now it is Governor Dewey's turn. Having deliberately accepted the consequences of a national audience, the New York governor can tell his own story—a story that he has, until now, kept within close confines.

It is possible, of course, that Governor Dewey's innate caution will overcome him. The final version of Tuesday's speech may be another one of those pleas for unity—this time for unity within his own party—which last October met with such resounding indifference in the country.

From a cold-blooded point of view it would seem that Governor Dewey would have nothing to lose by telling the Old Guard what he really thinks of them.

The sound and fury of Omaha made it abundantly clear that the old-timers never will swallow Dewey again. While Hugh Scott, Governor Dewey's man, won a 54-to-50 decision from the committee, that victory is almost certain to prove empty.

Whether the governor harbors a secret desire to make a third try for the presidency is anyone's guess.

Timely Editorial

A Place for Dignity.

What Rep. George Dondero said to the House in pleading for more dignity in its proceedings simply echoes the thoughts of almost every citizen who visits Washington to watch the Congress in action.

Dondero criticized his colleagues for smoking on the floor and for reading newspapers while the House is in session. Even more shocking to the galleryits is the incessant buzz of private conversation among members on the floor while important issues are being debated.

Usually, an average American visits the Congress for the first time with a great feeling of pride in his government. But if after his initial shock he returns for a second visit, it is for about the same reason that he would attend a two-ring circus.—Detroit News.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Congress Debating Proposed Labor Bill

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

LABOR legislation moved front and center this week in Washington. The administration unveiled its bill to replace the Taft-Hartley law with what is called an improved Wagner Act. The 13-man Senate labor committee opened hearings. The first witness, Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin, was accorded a full-dress reception with crowds of spectators and floodlights for newsreel cameras.

Not all the heat was generated by photographic flashbulbs. On the opposite side of the table sat Sen. Robert Taft, chairman of the Senate's Republican policy committee and engineer of the Taft-Hartley law.

Not present but referred to frequently was John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, who twice called coal strikes in defiance of the government.

Cites Widespread Confusion.

Tobin said the T-H law had brought confusion to labor relations by unnecessary injecting the government into labor disputes, abridging the rights of workers and stressing individual bargaining as against collective bargaining.

Tobin said the administration bill will regulate collective bargaining only where restraints are needed. It seeks, he said, to develop a system under which labor and management with the friendly assistance of government, can solve their own problems.

The new bill would abolish court injunctions in labor disputes, substituting a voluntary 30-day cooling off period if the President intervenes in a major strike.

Different Views.

This brought an immediate rise from some of the committee—irrespective of party. Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) said it left the country practically defenseless against national emergency strikes even if it did please men like John L. Lewis.

Sen. Wayne Morse (R-Ore.) said he liked the new bill's reliance on voluntary procedures rather than on court injunctions. Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) asked what enforcement powers the bill gave the President to make strikers observe the 30-day cooling off period. Tobin answered that the "power of the President would be so strong it would avail."

While the bill contains no provision for injunctions to halt national paralysis strikes, some lawyers contend that broad powers of the President under the Constitution might give him the right to seek a court order in a grave emergency.

The administration bill would kill off such other T-H provisions as the ban on the closed shop, ban on political spending, oaths by union officials that they are not Communists before they can deal with the National Labor Relations Board.

At Home

Superspeed Camera.

A new fluid eyelid for a camera can take a picture in one-twenty-fifth of a millionth of a second. It is an electrical shutter with no moving parts.

The shutter is a murky fluid that blocks light. Two electric contacts are immersed in it. When a current is passed through, the liquid becomes transparent for an instant—as if a bottle of ink became water-clear.

The length of exposure is governed by the voltage. The new shutter offers a new way of discovering what happens in explosions, projectile flight, electrical discharges, the action of fuses and other instantaneous happenings.

It was reported at the winter meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers in New York.

Slump In Enrollments?

American colleges and universities soon are going to have to go out and sell their produce—education—just as they did before the war.

This is the conclusion of Dr. John M. Daniels, chairman of admissions at Carnegie Institute of Technology. He reports that applications for entry to technical training centers have dropped 40 per cent in the last year.

Dr. Daniels predicts conditions will grow worse than they were before World War II. He blames inflation as the cause. More families are going to decide, he says, that they can't afford college educations for their boys and girls.

* * *

Rebellious Landlords.

The department of justice put the rent control rebellion under the microscope for possible evidence of conspiracy but encouragement came from another source in Washington.

A group of Tulsa landlords who plan mass evictions and withdrawals of rental units within 60 days were promised a congressional probe of government controls.

The Tulsa group took their action in protest against proposed new federal rent control bills now before Congress.

The eviction plan spread to other cities, including Chicago and Kansas City.

* * *

Explaining the Weather.

Weathermen have an explanation for the record cold glazing the west and the good break for easterners in the balmy winter thus far.

One of the peculiarities of nature, they say, is that once a sequence of weather establishes itself, it tends to go on repeating the patterns. The new thing this winter is that the first cold waves started on a different path than normal.

American cold spells are born in Canada and the Arctic circle. They normally move down into the northern states and swing eastward. But this winter they are taking a western twist, riding down into the plans states and the Pacific southwest.

Abroad

Soviet Charges.

Russia has shown definite symptoms of nervousness over the proposed North Atlantic pact being negotiated in Washington. The Soviet foreign ministry charged last weekend that the pact is a plot to undermine the United Nations and an attempt to establish American-British world domination.

Russia also asked Norway to explain whether she intends to join the Atlantic defense system and furnish military bases to western powers.

Norway retorted it was necessary for her to seek security in regional pacts.

* * *

China's Peace Hopes.

China is experiencing another of those uneasy lulls that have marked almost every important phase of the decades-long civil war.

Conquering Chinese communists entered Peiping, the old northern capital. Nanking rapidly assumed the characteristics of an open city as nationalist officials and government bureaus fled to the south. But Chinese communist armies dawdled across the Yangtze river, seemingly hesitant to take the final step.

Peace efforts were being made but in China, where war is old and enmities still strong, peace apparently is to come slowly. The triumphant communists have shown a marked reluctance to negotiate.

Communists have demanded the handing over to them of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek as a war criminal as a preliminary to negotiations.

Quotes

Herbert Hoover, chairman of a commission studying reorganization of the executive branch of the government: "I believe this country has reached the saturation point by way of taxation."

Frankly Speaking

Taft Defends 'His Baby'

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON —Senator Taft is in the spot of a father who has to watch his baby beaten on the skull with sticks.

But the Ohio Republican, whose bald head and rimless glasses shine in the bright lights of the Capitol, is a very nimble father.

Any time a stick is raised he's right in there to defend his baby.

Senator Taft is father of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act. And he's a member of the Senate labor committee.

That committee is now holding day and night hearings so it can figure out how to wipe out Taft-Hartley, or at least change it around.

Taft was chairman of this same committee in 1947 when the Republicans had a majority in Congress and ran the show.

And for weeks then this same committee, under his driving leadership, put the Taft-Hartley act together.

Although a lot of Democrats helped a lot of Senator Taft's Republicans pass the act into law, the 1948 elections rolled around. And the Democrats promised, among other things, that they'd wipe out the Taft-Hartley law if they won. They won.

Now the Democrats are in a majority and Taft is no longer chairman. But he sits on the right hand of the Democratic chairman, Senator Thomas of Utah.

And from that position in the middle of the table Taft lies in wait for anyone who opens his trap to say a word about the baby.

Taft's weapons are a quick mind and a good knowledge of the law, labor relations, and Supreme Court decisions going back for years.

The other evening, for instance, he did a little cool sharpshooting with Arthur J. Goldberg, top lawyer for the CIO.

Goldberg, very pleasant about it as if he were just picking the bones of well-done chicken, denounced the Taft-Hartley Law.

Taft tried to pin-point him with questions about his dislike for the law, and when Goldberg got too rough with the baby, Taft tried to snatch it away from him with warm, kind words for the child.

* * *

Newcomer Speaks Up.

DOWN at the far end of the table one of the brand new members of the committee, young Senator Humphrey, Minnesota Democrat and defender of labor, bustled around in his chair.

You could see Humphrey getting hotter than a blow-torch as the evening wore on, and he tried to get in a few words while Taft was arguing with Goldberg.

Taft kept right on going for a while but Humphrey finally made it into the conversation.

Humphrey is a man with black hair, a big round head, and small hands.

His hands worked as he thrust his chin in the direction of Taft and talked intensely about the way employers had treated labor until unions won some strength.

Taft waited until Humphrey was through and, as if he were brushing away a buzzing sound, went on with Goldberg.

Senator Pepper, Florida Democrat, also talked with some heat on Goldberg's side.

But Taft stayed cool to take care of his baby. He admitted some parts of his Taft-Hartley Act might need toning down but said some of them might need sharpening, too.

The mildest thing that can happen to Taft's baby is a set of new clothes—if it's not so twisted its own father won't recognize it—and Taft realizes it.

The Democrats are in control and they're going to do things to his law. But he's making it his business to try to save as much of it as he can. He may preserve quite a bit.

As Others See It

Merely a Supposition.

Fond Memories.
